Stock Market Break Blamed For Suicide Of Trust Co. Head

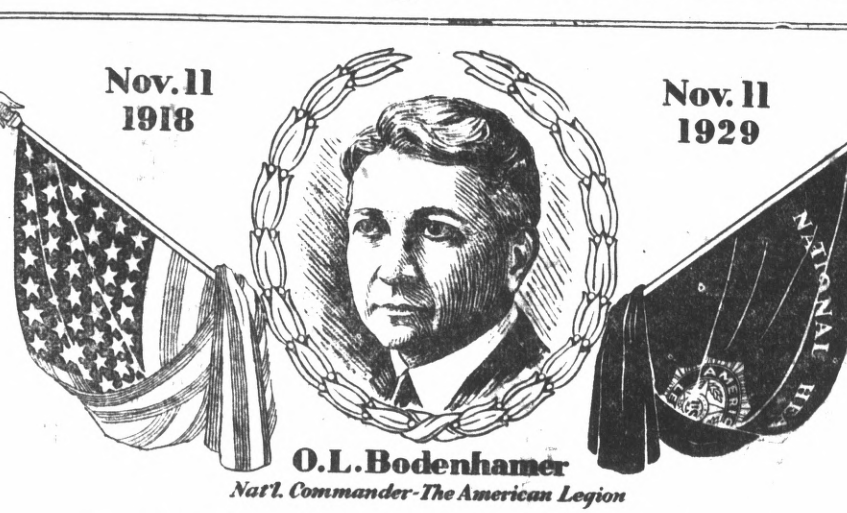

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—President James J. Roland of the County Trust Co., life long friend of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, shot and killed himself in the study of his home here yesterday afternoon, but news of his death became public only this afternoon.

Medical Examiner Charles J. Norris revealed late today that the suicide, believed to have been prompted by stock market reverses, had occurred about 4 p. m. Friday.

The secrecy surrounding the incident was believed prompted by a desire to prevent any uneasiness among his depositors. Personal reverses in the stock market drop last week were understood to have been suffered by Roland who was a prominent figure in the metropolitan financial and political life.

CARQUINEZ ARRIVALS
Among the arrivals who registered at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday were Jack Norris, of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Dorothy, Sacramento.

American Legion Carries On

Armistice Day Message to the People of America

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion, today issued an Armistice Day message to the people of America as follows: "Memories of the gallant service, performed by the men of America on the battlefields of France, come flooding back today with an ever-increasing vividness. We turn back the pages of the past and live again those never-to-be-forgotten moments of victory which brought unrestrained joy and gladness to the world."

"The American Legion, composed of the men who helped make possible that great achievement of eleven years ago, is today engaged in the task of preserving and perpetuating in peace those same high ideals of service which inspired our men in 1917 and 1918 to stake their lives for their country."

"Armistice Day has a peculiar significance to the men of the Legion because it not only revives cherished memories but it serves to impress upon all veterans their duty of continued service to the nation. A day of joy though this may be, still it strikes hard the note of loyalty which characterized the service of our men in time of war and which should characterize their service in time of peace."

"Conceived out of the common interests of those who served, the spirit of the American Legion today is the spirit which spurred our men to noble deeds on the field of battle. The Legion is justifying its existence with a program of good citizenship, with untiring devotion to the care of our disabled comrades and dependent children of veterans, advancing the principles of Americanism and giving unselfish service towards the betterment of our city, state and nation."

"Our celebration of this Armistice Day, however, would be to no avail if we do not take advantage of the splendid opportunity it affords, to pledge anew our allegiance to flag and country, and to reflect upon the duties and obligations which we, as citizens, owe to the nation. The lives which were snuffed out in the blaze of the World War, will not have been sacrificed in vain if we dedicate our best efforts to the uplift of the nation and to the preservation of those glorious principles of freedom and democracy for which our comrades died."

Bandits Obtain Imitation Gems

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—While no trace had been found today of five or six bandits who held up and robbed Mrs. Arthur W. Cutten and Mrs. Alfred T. Martin here last night, police expressed confidence the bandits would be in custody in a few hours.

The bandits obtained only imitation jewels, whose value would not exceed $500, according to Mrs. Cutten, wife of the internationally known grain man.

Mrs. Martin is the wife of a prominent grain broker. The two women were being driven home from a theater when the bandits stopped their car, saying they were police officers.

POWER RATE CUT ASKED

Lower electric rates for general commercial and domestic heating and cooking service have been filed by the Pacific Gas and Electric company with the railroad commission. The new rates will be 3½¢ per kilowatt hour for the first 150 kilowatt hours and 1½¢ per kilowatt hour thereafter. The rate was formerly 3½¢ and 2¢.

Heating and cooking rates have been reduced 25 per cent for all electricity used in excess of 160 kilowatt hours per month. Each kilowatt hour used over 150 per month now costs only 1½¢.

The filing of the new rates will place commercial users on a parity with domestic users.

Restaurants, hotels and commercial institutions will be chiefly affected by the new rate.

Public schools will receive a 25 per cent reduction in energy and provisions are made for a special minimum charge for public schools amounting to a cut of 50 per cent for installations over 30 kilowatts.

HIGH COURT APPEAL MADE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—UP—Unless a higher court interferes, Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, must go to San Quentin prison for not more than 50 years as a result of conviction on charges of assaulting Eunice Pringle, 17-year old dancer.

The middle aged Greek who started his career as a Klondike bartender appeared before Judge Charles Fricke today. He was denied probation and sentenced to "from one to 50 years" in San Quentin.

Pantages seemed a broken man and his glance toward the bench wavered and fell as Judge Fricke ordered him to the penitentiary.

Children Present
Mrs. Lois Pantages, the showman's wife, was too ill to be by her husband's side. It was only late yesterday that she won probation of her sentence to San Quentin which followed her conviction of manslaughter as the result of an automobile accident in which Juro Rokumoto, a Japanese, was killed.

Carmen Rodney and Lloyd Pantages were with their father when the judge ruled against the probation plea.

Immediately after the court hearing, attorneys for the showman filed notice of appeal which automatically stayed the sending of Pantages to prison. He will remain in the county jail until the appellate court rules on this motion.

New Trial Asked
As though in desperation, attorneys for Pantages tried every legal loophole in an effort to avoid the prison sentence.

A new trial was requested and denied; a request for stay of sentence was not considered and finally a plea for probation was refused.

Where yesterday Mrs. Pantages experienced no difficulty in winning probation, her husband today was blocked at every turn.

Pantages Sulky
In the case of Mrs. Pantages, however, Judge Carlos S. Hardy made it clear that probation was (Continued on Page 6)

CALIFORNIA PREPARES FOR 1930 BALLOT

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Preparations were under way by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan here today for California's two state elections in 1930—the primary election Aug. 26 and the general election Nov. 4.

Candidates for state and county offices will be selected at the August primary. Leading in public interest, of course, is the gubernatorial campaign which will precede this election. As California is overwhelmingly Republican, the nomination on that party's ticket is virtually tantamount to election.

Gov. C. C. Young, it is generally conceded, will be a candidate for reelection. Although he has made no official statement on the subject, Young is permitting his close political allies to organize his campaign throughout the state. It is expected he will announce his candidacy shortly after the first of the year.

Riley In Field
State Controller Ray L. Riley this week announced he would also seek the Republican nomination for Governor. As northern California has held the post of chief executive for years, many political observers insist that next year southern California should have its turn. As Riley hails from San Bernardino county his friends declare he should have the support of the region south of the (Continued on Page 4)

The campaign is under the direction of George Ruder, chairman of the drive committee, assisted by a large number of public spirited citizens.

Mayor A. L. Paulsen, and Ralph A. Wood, president of the Allied Veterans Council, yesterday expressed their approval of the drive and urged every citizen to back the Red Cross in its work.

RADIO KFWM WILL OPEN BROADCAST NEXT WEEK

Initial test of Radio KFWM in Richmond last night was halted when several generators at the recently completed broadcasting station were burned out. The accident to the equipment occurred during the first few moments of the tests and the scheduled program from the Oakland studio did not start.

Officials of the station announced last night that the dedication program will be presented next Saturday night.

FLAMES RAZE RED MILL INN
Many Richmond residents saw the passing of an old northern California landmark yesterday morning when fire completely razed the famed old Red Mill Inn, located at Point San Quentin adjacent to the Richmond-San Rafael ferry slip. Damage is estimated at $17,000.

The fire broke out in the second story of the building, which was built of hand hewn redwood timbers, and a few minutes later the upper portion of the three story building was a mass of flames.

The fire department from San Quentin prison, under the direction of armed guards, unsuccessfully fought the flames, but were unable to save the building.

According to Mose Moch, manager of the Richmond-San Rafael ferry company, the structure was originally built as a planing mill in 1864. Later it served as a stage relay station for the old six and four stage stages that served the northern part of California. Still later it became the terminal of the Northwestern Pacific railroad, and served in that capacity for 45 years.

Recently it was purchased by Clemente Mitti, who converted it into a cafe and coffee house.

Monday Meeting
The House will not adjourn until the Senate notifies it there is no chance for the tariff bill to be sent to conference this season, Longworth said.

A House meeting is scheduled for Monday and the three day recesses probably will be continued.

"We assume the Senate is able and anxious to send the bill to conference before the regular session begins," Longworth said, adding that there is no possibility for it to be enacted before the regular session meets December 2.

LEGION HOLDS ANNUAL BALL
With dancers filling the hall to the overflowing, the annual Armistice Ball of the Richmond American Legion was held last night in the East Shore park pavilion, and was pronounced a complete success.

The committee in charge of the affair was headed by George Tandy, and the crowd which attended the dance, attested to the efforts that the committee made.

The music was by Denny Shaw's Syncopators, which is composed of seven musical artists.

HALLOWEEN

We're off, we're off, 'tis our own night
We need for tricks, all Walpurgis scenes and lanterns bright
Forget the midnight prance,
Away we hie, o'er hill and dale,
With good broom steeds which never fail

The Witch's hood is set aright,
Nuts and raisins meet her chin;
Her giant fangs are both in sight,
Revealing eerie grin.
Gray wisps of hair escape from cap,
Like danger signals swish and flap!

Great clowns, with curve-lip backs,
Come forth, meow and spit;
They follow close on Witch's tracks,
Electric sparks emit.
They join the spooks, the goblins, ghosts—
All Toms and Lays are on their posts!

On mystic night, just once a year,
The mops and spirits will appear,
To thrill and even appal.
To land and lass the future ope,
Revealing signs of horoscope.

At midnight, backward down the stairs,
The mirror'll show life's mate;
You tremble meet your fate—
You'll see the husband or the wife Who'll lead you through the world's harsh strife.

Then, goblins, spooks, gray doxies and mops
Form circle 'round the witch;
She dances wildly till the morn;
When with a grin and scowl
She bids farewell and takes her leave;
She flits away from Halloween!

A Woman's Suggestion for Shops

"THE customer," according to the slogan of the best shops, "is always right." These shops, moreover, are continually asserting that they want to know what their customers want, since they (the shops) strive to please. Therefore, one of more of them may be interested in a constructive suggestion forwarded by one of our women readers and heartily endorsed by us.

"I am glad, indeed, to see you championing the short skirt for practical wear," writes L. N. S. "But, while those of us who do not wish to accept the longer skirt are everywhere being advised to hold our ground and go on wearing short ones, yet every woman wants to feel that she is stylishly dressed. We can't go on wearing our present wardrobe forever—nor can we page back to magazines of 1928 for inspiration for our new clothes.

"Why cannot at least one big store be persuaded to establish a 'Short-Skirt Department' with all the necessities of exclusiveness, where delightfully new dresses, coats and undies will continue to be offered to those who will not go with Paris and lead us? Such a department would pay well, if properly advertised.

"This might even be the beginning of real American independence in matters of dress. I, for one, am certain that American designers can do as well as French ones, if given half a chance."

IT SEEMS TO US THAT THE SHOP

opening and featuring such an innovation would make an enormous and profitable hit with many intelligent women who can afford good clothes but who know what they want. What they do NOT want is the new fall fashion in its extreme form. The proof is in the conversation that crackles and sputters about every tea-table. Other proof is in the letters and articles of feminine protest contributed to every periodical—from Fannie Huest in the New Republic to less famous but equally furious women writers to the editor of The Evening World and other New York dailies.

In fact, some of us have seen no such emphatic and widespread feminine reaction against fashion as that with which the Spirit of 1929 is seething! Nor have we seen the few new styles being worn—outside advertisements and shop windows.

Other, some shop might do worse than set out L. N. S.'s suggestion—be it a "Short-Skirt Department" or a "Wardrobe" for women who WON'T wear the long skirt.

ENCHANTED NIGHT
Aside a broom the old witch rides
To-night and takes her cat with her (How changed, the fiendly and wee be-tides
Who has her for a visitor.

Drive men can see with wary eye
At midnight, which is coming soon,
Strange parade go stream by
The circle of the yellow moon.

When horrid murmurs choke the wind,
When ghosts grow bold and witches ride
Ahead as if police were blind,
Good people better stay inside!
J. H. WALLIS.

POLITICAL NOTE
Women, according to Harold S. Carlson, psychologist at Long Island University, know less than men do of politics, but women's ideas are sound. It occurs to us that this verdict completely summarizes the large number of women who can't see what all the shooting is for in a municipal campaign that is a foregone conclusion, and who find the same campaign "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

When Ignorance Is Bliss
You may get a look at your future husband to-night—but some women would advise you not to try too hard!

Bathroom Glassware

One shop has a selection of bottles and jars in conservative types of clouded glass. Checks in pastel shades and blacks are added for the ensemble of color note. The effect, in the pastel checks, is almost quaint, so delicate and gingham looking are they; in black and white the effect is clear and sharp, very much in the modern manner.

Should the bun maker be away from home for two or three hours half a yeast cake instead of the whole cake will let the dough rise in three hours. Necessity often requires absence from home at the most inopportune times.

Whether the rising time is one and a half or three hours, the dough will be twice its original size and smell wonderful at the right time. Flour the bread board and pour the dough upon it. With floured hands, pat out the dough and cut into shape or fashion thirteen buns with the floured hands. Lay the buns in greased muffin tins, brush with melted butter, sprinkle with brown sugar and crushed nuts. Cover again with the tea towel; set in the same warm place and let rise for half an hour if a whole yeast cake was used or one hour if a half yeast cake was substituted.

The oven must be hot when the light buns are put in to bake. The baking time varies from twenty to thirty minutes, depending upon the size of the bun pans. Let cool upon a rack or serve direct from the oven with butter and a pot of tea.

CA DISH A DAY

By Nancy Norris

The scent of English bath buns baking in the kitchenette oven comes pleasantly to the nostrils and reminds of the days when home-made bread was a weekly occasion in every home.

Good at any time of the day or night, the light, very delicious English bath buns are perfect with afternoon tea. Guests at the tea table will want more and more of the miniature buns.

Crusted with brown sugar blended with melted butter and sprinkled with chopped nuts, these home-made buns cost little but time. Yeast hot breads like baking powder breads are easily made, although many a cook fears to attempt the form—400 degrees F.

The inexperienced cook will be successful with

Norris, the Fighting Nebraskan, Now Figuring
In Multiplicity of National Battles, Was Bested
In Fight to Retire by Friendly Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, D. C.

In view of the clamor for public office and the extremes to which some-men go to gain it, the case of George W. Norris and the people of Nebraska versus the Republican Old Guard, the Hoover-Huston National Committee, the Moses Senatorial Campaign Committee, et al., assumes a historical character.

The white-haired, boyish-faced, soft-
spoken, hard-hitting veteran of liberal Republicanism and militant insurgency from Canonism to Grundism stands out as the man we have been trying to find for a long time. In him we discover the one person of whom history may say:

"The office sought the man."
Norris fits the compliment.

He is in the Senate to-day in spite
of himself.

He is likely to be for another six
years, because of a friendly conspiracy
against his own plans.

The return in 1924 of Senator Norris
—often dubbed the "only honest
man in Congress" or the "most thoroughly honest man in the Senate"—
as the "pillar of intellectual integrity supporting the Great White Dome"—
hardly could be put down as a conspiracy. One smart newspaper man maneuvered that. It takes two to make a conspiracy.

There was a slight doubt that the projection of Senator Norris into the 1930 campaign results from a conspiracy.

It is a pretty story.
Senator Norris decided in 1923 that he was sick of the Senate. He thought his fight in the House against "Uncle
Joe" Cannon and the defeat of Taft in 1912 presaged a lasting reformation.
The victory proved ephemeral. Norris
so decided in 1920 when Harding was
the nominee and the victor. Norris lost heart. He was getting along in years.
To discredit "Old Bob" La Follette the
reactionary newspapers of the country
had plastered a label of "pro-Germanism" on him.

The Old Guard had liquidated its bankruptcy of 1912 and had emerged
more powerful than ever. The American people seemed to enjoy being bunked by Wall Street contributors
and Watson-Simons-Carter.

Senator Norris sat in his office and pondered the political situation. What did it profit an honest Republican?
Norris was not prepared to say.

He had one positive reaction, a real,
a vital one.

In 1910, the Ballinger expose was an incident of such national concern that the Republican Party, aided by its reactionary psychology on the Payne-
Aldrich tariff bill, went on the rocks
and only Utah and Vermont sent flowers to the funeral held in the Electoral College.

Norris was encouraged to believe the American people could read and write
and vote accordingly.

He acquired his "what's the use" attitude when he sensed the consequences of the Harding expose in 1920, long before the Senate exposé.
By 1924 Norris had lost hope of bringing decency to government in Washington. He decided to quit.

The nomination of Calvin Coolidge at
Cleveland was inevitable.

Norris wished to go back home to reform State legislative procedure by reducing stipendity 50 per cent. He proposed to do it through having a Legislature in Nebraska.

Without the knowledge of Senator Norris papers to have his name on the Republican primary ballot were filed at Lincoln, Neb. He told me the story on one of my visits to his cubby-hole of an office.

"The office sought the man."
Norris fits the compliment.

He is in the Senate to-day in spite
of himself.

He is likely to be for another six
years, because of a friendly conspiracy
against his own plans.

The return in 1924 of Senator Norris
—often dubbed the "only honest
man in Congress" or the "most thoroughly honest man in the Senate"—
as the "pillar of intellectual integrity supporting the Great White Dome"—
hardly could be put down as a conspiracy. One smart newspaper man maneuvered that. It takes two to make a conspiracy.

There was a slight doubt that the projection of Senator Norris into
the 1930 campaign results from a conspiracy.

It is a pretty story.
Senator Norris decided in 1923 that he was sick of the Senate. He thought
his fight in the House against "Uncle
Joe" Cannon and the defeat of Taft in 1912 presaged a lasting reformation.
The victory proved ephemeral. Norris
so decided in 1920 when Harding was
the nominee and the victor. Norris lost
heart. He was getting along in years.
To discredit "Old Bob" La Follette the
reactionary newspapers of the country
had plastered a label of "pro-German-
ism" on him.

The Old Guard had liquidated its
bankruptcy of 1912 and had emerged
more powerful than ever. The American people seemed to enjoy being bunked by Wall Street contributors
and Watson-Simons-Carter.

Senator Norris sat in his office and pondered the political situation. What did it profit an honest Republican?
Norris was not prepared to say.

He had one positive reaction, a real,
a vital one.

In 1910, the Ballinger expose was an incident of such national concern that the Republican Party, aided by its reactionary psychology on the Payne-
Aldrich tariff bill, went on the rocks
and only Utah and Vermont sent flowers to the funeral held in the Electoral College.

Norris was encouraged to believe the American people could read and write
and vote accordingly.

He acquired his "what's the use" attitude when he sensed the consequences of the Harding expose in 1920, long before the Senate exposé.
By 1924 Norris had lost hope of bringing decency to government in Washington. He decided to quit.

The nomination of Calvin Coolidge at
Cleveland was inevitable.

Norris wished to go back home to reform State legislative procedure by reducing stipendity 50 per cent. He proposed to do it through having a Legislature in Nebraska.

Norris, the Fighting Nebraskan, Now Figuring
In Multiplicity of National Battles, Was Bested
In Fight to Retire by Friendly Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, D. C.

In view of the clamor for public office and the extremes to which some-men go to gain it, the case of George W. Norris and the people of Nebraska versus the Republican Old Guard, the Hoover-Huston National Committee, the Moses Senatorial Campaign Committee, et al., assumes a historical character.

The white-haired, boyish-faced, soft-
spoken, hard-hitting veteran of liberal Republicanism and militant in-

stands out as the man we have been

A Tea-Time Story

A MAN had a lonely neighbor which he kept in a gilded cage.
Day after day he listened to its beautiful song, its musical trills, to its sweet and pure voice soaring higher and ever higher in an ecstasy of melody.
So delighted was the man with his little bird that one day he addressed it and said fervently:

1930. LICENSE PLATES OUT SOON

It will soon be automobile license time again. First sign of the new year of 1930.

Complete arrangements have been made for the distribution of more than 2,000,000 sets of plates to owners of motor vehicles in California in the comparatively brief period of thirty days. Reports the California State Automobile association. Offices of the motorists' organization in 21 cities have on hand their supply of plates for the opening day of business, December 15, when over-the-counter renewal service will start. All offices of the State Division of Motor Vehicles are also stocked and ready for the opening of the renewal registration period, legally designated as December 15, which falls on a Sunday this year.

Fore-sighted motorists, however, may begin to think about new plates a month earlier, if they wish. The State Division of Motor Vehicles is announced by Chief Frank G. Snook, will receive mail applications for renewal registration beginning on Nov. 15.

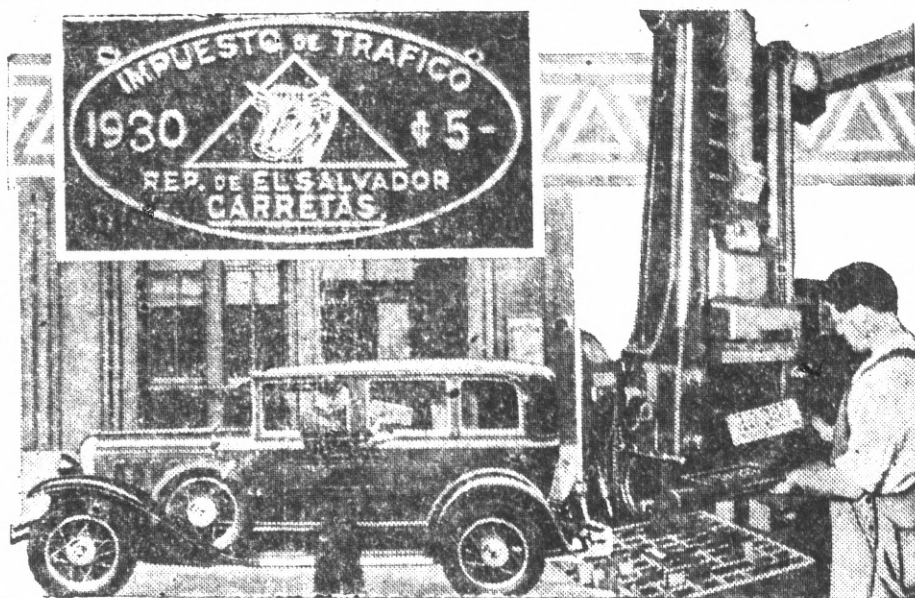

The renewal registration period will close Jan. 15.

After Jan. 15, state traffic officers will be ordered to check motor vehicles, noting whether the temporary white certificate of registration is in the car or whether the autoist can produce evidence by a check stub, receipt or other means of having applied for new license. Citations will be issued, declares the motor vehicle chief, in instances where the motorist has not applied for new license.

Under the state law, motorists must pay double the usual license fee if they fail to apply for plates before midnight, Jan. 31. The Automobile association warns the "Automobile" association. Since many sets of plates will still be in transit in the mails for several days after the closing of the renewal period, motorists have until January 31 to attach their 1930 plates to their cars.

Offices of the California State Automobile Assn., from which license plates will be issued are located in San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento, Auburn, Chico, Eureka, Hanford, Hollister, Madera, Martinez, Marysville, Merced, Modesto, Napa, Placerville, Red Bluff, Redding, San Mateo, Salinas, San Rafael, Santa Cruz, Santa Rosa, Susanville, Ukiah, Vallejo, Willows, Woodland, and Yreka.

Got Your License?

AN ORDER for 22,000 ex cart license plates for El Salvador was received by a Portland, Ore., firm recently. The license is shown, upper left, while at the lower right is the immense press making the plates. A domestic type of plate is about to be placed on this Oakland and All-America sedan, lower left.

Ohio In War On Accidents

An extensive traffic safety educational program has been launched for Ohio's 750,000 school children similar to the plan which has been in effect in California for the past two years. In this state, the A. A. A. affiliated club, the Ohio State Automobile association, will supply the monthly poster lessons, depicting a traffic hazard commonly encountered by school children. 12,500 such posters are distributed monthly to classrooms of northern and central California schools by the California State Automobile association in cooperation with school authorities.

Chains Held Need For Rainy Season

With the rainy season approaching, motorists should bear in mind that tire chains, windshield wipers, road brakes and road lights are safeguards against accidents, points out the Public Safety department of the California State Automobile association, that are often wrongly attributed to wet pavement, rain, muddy roads, etc.

Highway Markers Urged By Fliers

Harry H. Bice, chief of the Division of Airports, Department of Commerce, has urged the marking of all principal highways as an aid to air navigation, reports the National Automobile club. The recommended standard calls for simple markings—involved in each case the official number preceded by the letters U. S. in the case of federal highways, and the state abbreviation in the case of state highways. Where practicable, the letters and numbers should be marked directly on the pavement in white or yellow letters ten to 30 feet high.

Monoxide Dangers Greater In Winter

As winter approaches, the danger to motorists from deadly carbon monoxide gas increases, say the California State Automobile association. The practice of starting engines in garages before opening garage doors results in many fatalities each year. Motorists should pay strict attention to ventilation in the garage and, above all, should not "warm up" the car unless ample avenues of escape are available for exhaust gases. A cross-draft through the garage is most desirable.

BANDED BIRDS CHECKED BY BOARD

John McR. Robertson, president of the Western Bird Banding association, has sought the aid of the California Fish and Game commission in checking the flight of banded birds, states a report received by the National Automobile club. An urgent request is made to all hunters killing banded birds to either save the entire bird, or enough of the bird to send to the banding association, who will in turn forward it to the United States Biological Survey at Washington.

The importance of bird banding is fully realized by the Game commission, in that it gives a line on the migration of wild fowl, and is invaluable in gathering data on the movement of migratory birds, especially wild ducks. Any assistance offered by hunters will be greatly appreciated.

Some very interesting facts have been revealed by the records of birds banded at different points throughout the country. Out of the 4019 mallard ducks banded at the National Bison range at Missoula, Montana in October and November, 1927, returns show that prior to May, 1928, 738 had been reported killed. Montana hunters claimed 162; Idaho, 231; Washington, 89; Oregon, 133; California, 73; Nevada, 12; Utah, 2; Nebraska, Missouri and Louisiana, 1. This record shows that only a few of the birds traveled any great distance in their migratory flight.

According to those well versed in the banding of ducks, these reports are said to indicate that ducks have their own established territory, and the flights, or absence of flights in one territory need not interfere with those in other sections.

In requesting the co-operation of all hunters, Robertson assures all participating that each record will be complete, and the much needed information will be secured if the hunter will communicate with John McR. Robertson, at Buena Park, California.

Distributor Of Car Needs Care

The distributor assembly and spark plugs play an important part in starting a motor. If your car is driven for some time without having a tune-up, the breaker points will become pitted, and the spark plugs will become gummed with carbon and oil. The breaker points can be dressed or polished. Likewise, the spark plugs can be cleaned.

STATE PARKS ATTRACT MANY

The four national parks of California entertained nearly one-fourth of the total visitors in all of the 21 great playgrounds of the nation, according to estimates of the California State Automobile association from figures prepared by the Department of the Interior. A total of 2,689,957 persons entered Uncle Sam's playgrounds during the 1929 season. This is the largest total in history and the increase in visitors over last year is regarded as normal.

California takes two first places with its national parks and monuments. Yosemite enjoys the honor of entertaining more visitors than any other of the national parks with 481,557. Among the 28 national monuments in the country in which records of visitors are kept, Muir Woods leads all the rest in popularity with 93,368 visitors.

Honors for second places are divided between Oklahoma and Arizona. The national park ranking next to Yosemite in popularity is Platte Park in Oklahoma and the national monument second in the attention of the public is the Petrified Forest in Arizona. The total number of visitors in the 21 parks and 28 monuments recorded was 3,248,264, or 223,420 more than the number in 1928.

More than one-half of the national parks, or 11, passed the 100,000 mark and substantial increases were shown in Yellowstone, Sequoia, Crater Lake, Glacier, Rocky Mountain, and Grand Canyon Park. Bryce Canyon in Utah, and Grand Teton in Wyoming, are both new parks and attendance records were available for the first time. There were nearly 22,000 visitors in Bryce Canyon, and 51,500 in Grand Teton.

Visitors to the California national parks and monuments represented every state in the Union and twenty foreign countries. Residents of California lead all other states in point of numbers among these visitors, but the records of parks in other states indicate that Californians tour extensively as this state ranks second in point of attendance at nearly all of the other parks.

It is evident from the government's figures, declare officials of the California State Automobile association, that the national parks and monuments are becoming more popular each year, and that every effort should be made, especially in this state, to improve the roads and trails, and to protect the great forests and water-holes from fire.

Dogs Blamed For Accidents

The lowly "canine" now has become a factor in motoring hazards, according to the California State Automobile association, that has received reports that show an increasing number of mishaps due to auto-chasing dogs. These accidents can be reduced if dog owners will shoulder their due responsibility and either keep the animals off streets and highways or will teach them not to chase motor cars. The association points out that the owner, rather than the dog, is the one who deserves the blame.

More Highways Need Of U. S.

At present there is one automobile to every 5.6 persons in the United States, but only about twenty per cent of the nation's highway mileage has been surfaced to accommodate this vast "army on wheels," according to the California State Automobile association.

Kansas Passes New Road Law

A recently passed Kansas law states that no more than 100 miles of high-type pavement shall be constructed in one year until the entire state highway system shall have been improved with an all-weather surface, reports the National Automobile club.

29,252 Miles Of Highway Improved

A total of 29,252 miles of highways, on the various state systems, was improved during 1928. This represents an increase of 2530 miles over the 1927 figure of 26,722 miles. The 1928 work included 8675 miles of graded and drained roads and 26,577 miles of new surfacing. There were 13,843 miles surfaced that previously were unsurfaced.

FILM RECORDS PIKES PEAK CONTEST

The thrilling spectacle of an automobile race high above the clouds has been recorded for the first time by movie camera-men in the filming of the annual Pike's Peak hill climb.

To bring the sights and sounds of America's hill climbing classic to motorists all over the country, the Studebaker corporation made a complete record of the race in which a stock President eight set a new record of 21 minutes 43 seconds for the Labor Day climb. From vantage points along the 12.4 mile course, clicking cameras and their sound recording instruments caught the "Flying President" as it roared its way to a new record up the steep grades and around the 154 turns which make the course one of the most difficult tests for car and driver in the world. There are many turns where a miscalculation in speed and handling would send car and driver hurtling down the mountain side. Often, in the film, it seems as though Glen Shultz and his champion car could never negotiate the curves they faced at such speed.

With the start of the race 9150 feet above sea level and the finish at the summit 14,109 feet high, the film presents many magnificent panoramas of the Rockies and the plains to the east as well as the thrilling sights and sounds of the race.

L. J. Thomas is the local Studebaker dealer.

Automatic Spark Adjustment To Be Scrapped

The use of automatic spark control is being discontinued by the majority of car manufacturers. This brings back the question of retarding the spark before stepping on the starter, and also the question of slightly retarding the spark during hard pulls on the hills. A retarded spark will cause higher motor temperatures but will probably not result in as much serious injury as will a spark which is too far advanced.

FALL PURCHASE OF NEW CAR LAUDED

Sales records show that automobile buying is somewhat stimulated during the fall months, after the slackening off in the summer which follows the spring activity, according to L. G. Peed, De Soto general sales manager.

"The motor-wise buyer is beginning to look at the purchase of an automobile from the business-like standpoint that the fall season is the time to purchase his new car," Peed said. "He realizes that the car he now possesses will be considered as one year older after the first of the year and consequently he wishes to take advantage of the higher trade-in value of his old car due to the fact that there are not as many used cars on the market in the fall.

"There are other factors too that should be taken into consideration when purchasing a new car," Peed continued. "These factors all point to the fall season as being the best time to purchase. The owner's old car, which has been used during the preceding winter, cannot be expected to function during another winter as well as a new car, and there are any number of minor repairs that may be necessary if the car is to provide safe, economical, comfortable and dependable transportation during the coming winter. These minor repairs and replacements added together may amount to a good sum which will not add a particle to the value of the car which would be in the spring. Applied toward the purchase of a new car, the amount immediately becomes a saving.

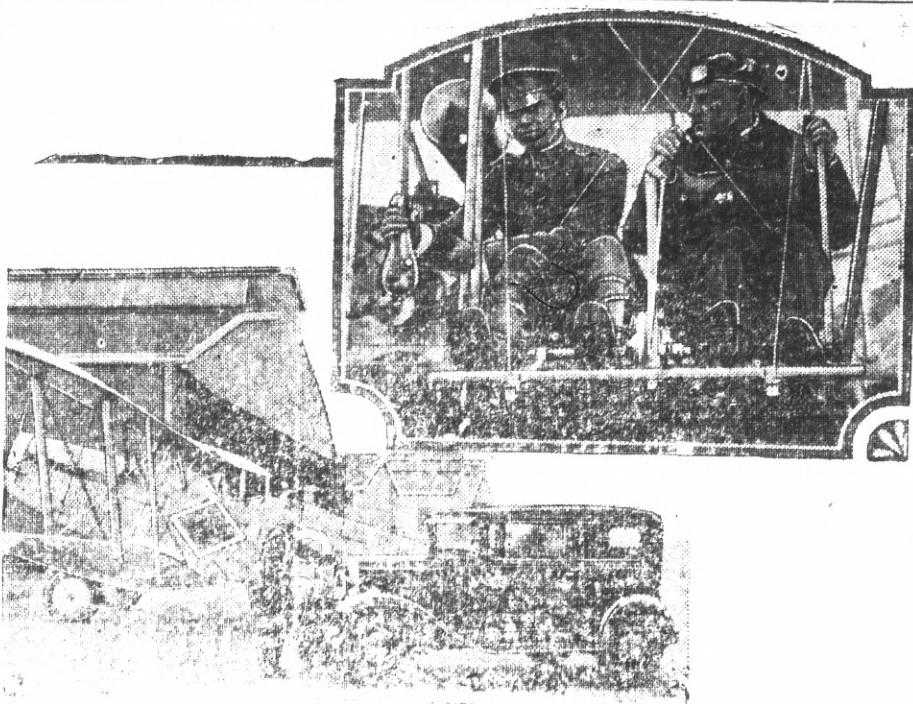

"The purchaser who buys his new car in the fall not only saves money because of the higher appraisal value of his used car at that time and because it is not necessary for him to spend money for repairs and replacements on his old car but he enjoys the comfort of driving a brand new mechanically perfect automobile during the months that such a car is to be mostly desired.

"These facts as I see them," Mr. Peed concluded, "are the reasons that sales figures during the fall months have shown a slightly upward trend in recent years and that the fall is undoubtedly taken its place as the second buying season of the year."

CHECK BUSHING

The king-pin bushings on your car should be checked over when the steering develops a wobble. This is quite likely to reveal the source of the trouble, particularly if the car has seen considerable service.

WINTER DRIVING BRINGS NEW CARES

Autumn weather and early falling leaves bring a distinct set of motor hazards peculiar to this time of the year. The public safety department of the California State Automobile association calls attention to some salient points to be borne in mind by the motor vehicle driver at this season as follows:

Falling leaves covered streets offer a serious traffic hazard and too sudden application of the brakes will cause skidding with resultant danger.

Children have returned to the school room after months of freedom in the open, and will not exercise the caution they will later in the year. It therefore behooves the motorist to watch out for youngsters crossing streets or highways.

Due to the presence of children on the streets and the longer time will be required to reach the office. Therefore, the car owner should allow himself more time.

Darkness comes all too soon at this season and a careful watch should be kept for children who have wandered into streets especially those on skates. Glazed pavements are dangerous during the first heavy rains and drivers, therefore, must proceed with extra caution. Winter is just ahead and the automobile should be inspected by a competent mechanic and made ready for the changed conditions of colder weather.

Drive Continued On Headlights

State and city traffic police are continuing their activities in the state wide drive against faulty automobile lighting. Warns the California State Automobile association. While a new educational campaign on another phase of the continuing movement to make California's streets and highways safer will be launched soon. There will be no let-up of the enforcement campaign against glaring, or improperly adjusted headlights. "One-eyed" cars, cars without tail lights and other faulty lighting equipment.

Adjust Brakes To Stop Squeak

Noisy brakes may sometimes be remedied by making the adjustment closer. It is imperative that brakes be allowed enough clearance to avoid heating or burning.

Many To Seek Governorship In 1930 Vote

Tehachapi. Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan will undoubtedly be a candidate without opposition. Riley's entry into the gubernatorial list left his office wide open, and George G. Radcliffe, chairman of the state board of control during the Richardson administration very promptly announced himself as a candidate for state controller.

Attorney General U. S. Webb, the oldest state employee in point of service, is scheduled to make the race. Uncontested, Victor Kersey, state superintendent of territory, appointed by Governor Young, has declared his intention of seeking election.

At the November general election all the party candidates successful at the primary election must submit themselves to final vote of the people. At this election, voters must pass upon some 20 proposed amendments to the state constitution as well as several measures placed on the ballot under the State's initiative and referendum law. All indications point to the longest ballot in the history of California.

Petitions are already being circulated in southern California, calling for repeal of the Wright act, California's "little Volstead law." If its proponents are successful in putting the proposal on the ballot, a hot campaign both for and against is assured.

Among the initiative measures proposed are: Providing a daylight saving law for California; permanent registration of voters; and resumption of hydraulic mining. Permanent registration, which failed of adoption at the 1929 legislature, would be given a voter only if he visits the polls at each election. Failure to exercise his right of franchise twice in succession would cancel his registration.

State Bonds. Two state bond issues are on the November ballot, one proposing to raise $20,000,000 to complete the state's farm and home loan program for ex-service men, and the other, $10,000,000 for improvements of San Francisco harbor. Outstanding among the numerous constitutional amendments adopted by the legislature and referred to the voters for ratification are those calling for a state convention to frame a new constitution, requiring personal property tax to be paid on automobiles before license plates are issued by the state, permitting retirement of state employees, and forbidding judges from holding other offices or accepting pay other than their salaries.

The latter amendment is an outgrowth of the attempt to impeach Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles for accepting a $2,500 check from Almeda Semple McPherson.

OX CARTS MUST HAVE LICENSE IN SOUTH

That a majority of the people of El Salvador prefer the monotonous plodding method of transportation as provided by a yoke of oxen to the more animated type as offered by the modern automobile is evidenced by an order recently placed by the Central American republic for 2650 pairs of automobile license plates for 1930 and 22,000 ox cart plates.

This unique ration of vehicles became known when an Oakland party last week visited the plant of the Irwin-Hodson company in Portland where the plates are made according to J. P. Strom, Irwin-Hodson dealer here. It was also learned at this time that officials of El Salvador have ordered 1300 bicycle license plates and 300 motorcycle numbers.

The El Salvador ox-cart plate is a comparatively small affair. It bears only 2 5/8 inches wide and 5 inches long. The license plates include the head of an ox inset within a triangle in the center of the plate; the upper portion states that it is a "traffic tax" while the center and lower portions designate the year issued, amount of tax and the name of the country.

P. H. Bronner, who directs the license department of the Irwin-Hodson concern, said that American businessmen in Central America report El Salvador roads to be in terrible condition and consequently automobiles are not as favorably accepted there as in some other southern countries. The few automobiles registered that are in the area are of the "fine car" type and owned by the wealthier families, he declared.

The making of license plates is a specialized industry and the Portland concern has so thoroughly perfected this type of manufacturing that today it operates the most pretentious plant of its kind in the west, and one of the four largest in the United States. The Irwin-Hodson company obtained its first contract for license plates in 1915 when it was selected to prepare the 1916 Oregon automobile numbers. At present, this company is making plates for Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Montana, Alaska, Yukon Territory, El Salvador, Costa Rica as well as city licenses and highway markers for numerous communities throughout the country.

Last year this Portland organization manufactured approximately 1,150,000 automobile license plates. It is estimated by Bronner that between five and six hundred thousand pounds of steel and 45,000 gallons of enamel were required for this output as well as an impressive quantity of Oregon made wood containers and wax paper which were used for point to the longest ballot for packing.

Bronner told the Oakland party that several Oregon firms also make metal license plates and they are in constant competition with the Portland organization to obtain contracts with Central and South American governments.

Petitions are already being circulated in southern California, calling for repeal of the Wright act, California's "little Volstead law." If its proponents are successful in putting the proposal on the ballot, a hot campaign both for and against is assured.

Flowers Suffer In Auto Crash

Two cars, several rose bushes and the front lawn of a home at Eighth street and Ripley avenue were damaged last night in an automobile accident, according to police reports.

Cars being driven by Charles A. Clark, of Pinole, and Adolf Winters, 1110 Macdonald avenue, came in collision at this point. Clark lost control of his car and ran over the curb and into the front yard of the H. M. Spalding home.

No one was injured.

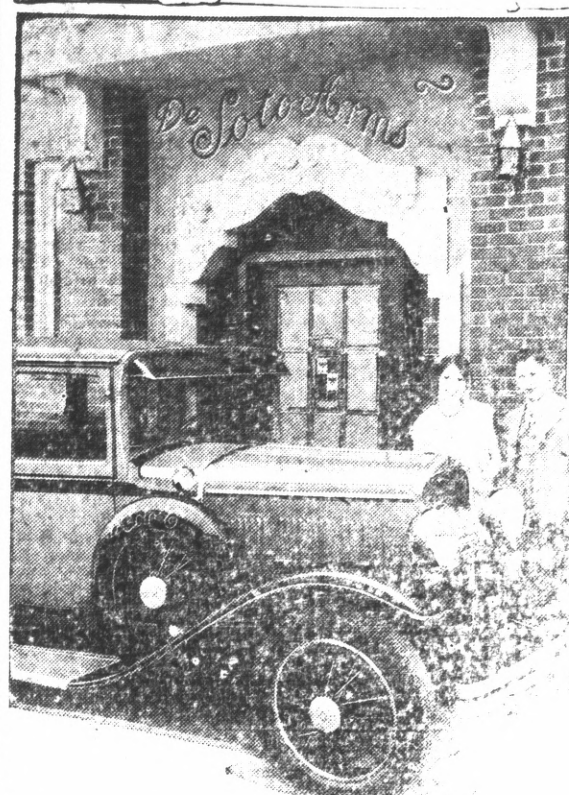

Winter Hard On Battery

Now that cooler days are coming it is well to remember that the battery is going to be called upon for extra service in starting the motor. The cold grease in the transmission supplies an added drag on the battery which may be eliminated by throwing out the clutch before stepping on the starter button.

Spare Can Be Used To Change Tire

Having a flat tire on a country road where the nearest service prevents the placing of the jack is a most embarrassing position. This situation can be overcome by placing the spare on the ground in front of the flat tire and then running that wheel up on the spare. The added height will allow the placing of the jack and the stunt will in no way harm the spare tire.

SO PLEASED was this couple with their new DeSoto sedan that they named their apartment house the "DeSoto Arms."

STATE CARS ON INCREASE

California's motor vehicle population has shown an enormous increase during the past fifteen years, according to comparisons of registration figures of 1914 and 1929, reported by the California State Automobile association. Fifteen years ago the state had 123,516 cars, while last summer the registrations had increased to 1,859,523, or more than fifteen times the figure of 1914.

Every county in the state shows an increase in the number of vehicles, although some of them have lost population during the past fifteen years. Los Angeles county, with a registration of 755,775, has the largest number of motor vehicles of any county; while Alpine county, in the mountains of the state, has the lowest number with 63 vehicles.

Honolulu Car Deaths High

The death rate from automobile accidents in Honolulu is one of the highest in the United States and territories, reports the National Automobile club. That city's death rate exceeds the mainland average of 19.5 for 1929, reported by the California State Automobile association. Honolulu, on the island of Oahu, had 47 deaths during the last year.

The airplane found the automobile a very valuable ally. The automobile manufacturers had been experimenting for years with the gas engine and they had made decided advances in its construction. The airplane manufacturers had the power all ready for them. A different type engine was required for air service but the fundamental principle developed by the automobile manufacturers was the guiding star used.

Center Lines To Be Painted Soon

The State Highway department has initiated a program for the next biennium which calls for the painting of 1400 miles of the largest number of motor vehicles of any county; while Alpine county, in the mountains of the state, has the lowest number with 63 vehicles.

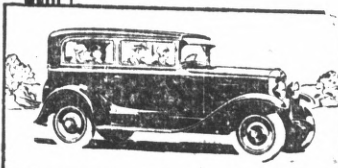

A safety measure.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon today in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon include the following from the Bible: "And God said: Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image; male and female created he them."—Gen. 1:26, 27.

Famous Irish Actress Seen In New Film

A face that, to quote herself, is "as Irish as the map of Erin," suits Aggie Herring particularly well for the entertaining characterization she portrays in "Smiling Irish Eyes," Colleen Moore's romance of the Old Sod, which opens Tuesday at the Fox-California theater.

Hollywood producers have frequently used Miss Herring for Irish portrayals, "Pat and Mike," "Pinnegans Ball," "McFadden's Flats," and "The Cohens and Kellers" being among the pictures in which she played such characterizations. In "Smiling Irish Eyes," a First National Vitaphone picture produced by John McCormick, Miss Herring is a member of a talented supporting cast, with James Hall, Claude Gillingwater, Robert Homans, Betty Francisco, Tom O'Brien and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

Also on the bill is a talking comedy, "Beach Babies."

ILLUSION HAS THREE SONG FEATURES

Arthur Train's famous novel "Illusion" will be seen and heard in its film form at the Fox-California theater as the main feature today and tomorrow. The story, which was serialized in the Ladies' Home Journal, deals with the fortunes of a young magician who becomes the lion of the society circles in which he practices his art as a professional entertainer. He finds himself drawn by two worlds—the world of bedizened dowagers and haughty sophisticates—and the world of troupers, show people, his own kind.

Charles Buddy Rogers plays the role of the young magician, Nancy Carroll is co-featured in the role of the dancing-singing vaudeville performer with whom he falls in love.

There are a number of thrilling sequences in the picture induced by the natural plot suspense and by the dancers of the life of necromancy which Rogers practices.

Several songs are introduced effectively in the plot. One of the principal numbers, "Revolutionary Rhythm" is sung and danced by Buddy and Nancy and is developed in a night club sequence with Lillian Roth, former Vanities star, singing and dancing it with the support of a dazzling chorus of fast-stepping chorines in unique "Revolutionary" costumes.

A cast of eminent actors, many of them veterans of the speaking stage, support the featured pair. Among them are June Collyer, Kay Francis, Reels Toomey, Erickson, Eugene Bessner, William Austin, Emilio Melville, Paul Lukas, Eddie Kane, Michael Visaroff, Katherine Wallace and Maud Turner Gordon.

E. Lloyd Sheldon adapted the screen story from the Arthur Train original. Richard H. Dices, Jr., wrote the dialogue and Lotmar Mendes, who directed the most recent Clara Bow picture, "Dangerous Curves," wielded the megaphone.

PANTAGES TO FIGHT TERM IN PRISON

not granted because a prison sentence would probably mean death for Mrs. Pantages. After being returned to the county jail, Pantages did not appear to be downhearted. Rather, he was sulky, not replying to the friends and relatives who accompanied him from the courtroom.

In sentencing Pantages to prison for the "period prescribed by law" Judge Fricke pointed out that the sentence was mandatory under the wording of the verdict returned by the jury which found Pantages guilty of criminal assault on Miss Pringle when she applied to him in his office for work as a dancer on his vaudeville circuit.

Long Sentence

The jury recommended a prison sentence and at the same time suggested leniency. The judge pointed out that all he could do was to abide by the sentence prescribed by law as the matter of leniency must be decided by the California Prison Parole Board.

In California conviction on charges of criminal assault carry a penalty of not less than one year and not more than 50 years in prison. The board will hold a hearing at the end of one year and at that time may parole Pantages or re-sentence him to serve the entire 50 years or any part of it.

Court Rules

Pantages was convicted last month after a three-week trial in which he contended that Miss Pringle sought to compromise him for blackmailing purposes. Miss Pringle's story was that she visited Pantages in his office and that he assaulted her. She went to the office, she testified, to induce the theaterman to book her act.

During the trial the court ruled that all the state needed to prove was that Pantages had assaulted a minor.

The verdict finding Pantages guilty was returned by the jury after 23 hours deliberation.

Miss Normand's husband, Lew Cooley, also well known on the screen, has completely recovered from a nervous breakdown he suffered recently.

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

LEGION ELEVEN, ALAMEDA TO TANGLE

The Richmond American Legion grid squad will clash with the Alameda American Legion team today in the combined harmony of the Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond Veterans of Foreign Wars posts drum corps. The contest is a feature of the dedication of the new Veterans' memorial building in Alameda, and will be played on the Neptune Beach field at 10:30 o'clock. Gov. C. C. Young and his staff are expected at the game. The dedication will be held at the veterans building at Walnut and Central streets, Alameda, following the game. Governor Young will then speak.

The Richmond men believe that they have a reasonable chance of winning today's battle. Though visited by a prolonged streak of bad luck this season, the Richmond club has shown a continual trend for the better. The players on the local squad will offer plenty of opposition today to the island city boys. Cornell, quarterback, Ravel, Clark, halfback, and McAllister, fullback, offer a backfield that is hard to beat.

The Richmond squad has a strong defensive line. Borgstrom and Cooper will occupy the end positions today, and Bracco and Rose, tackles, will be big threats to the Alameda troupe. Chapman and Bonnell are expected to live up to their reputation as guards on the Richmond team. Meyers, who has played a first class game throughout the season, will be at center for Richmond. With this strong lineup and a fine squad of reserves, the Richmond American Legion gridgers are confident that they will end the game on the heavy end of the score.

However, the Alameda post is known to possess a sensational offensive which has always been a big threat to the other teams in the American Legion football league of northern California. Wall, Alameda quarterback, is one of the fastest quarterbacks in the bay area. Izzy Weiss and Finnessey also play a sensational game at halfback for Alameda.

There is a chance that the winner of today's scrap will meet either Modesto or Merced in the semi-finals of the northern division of the California American Legion league.

Drivers Learn Of Winter Aid

Here's a good winter aid. When one wheel drops into a mud hole the car is usually as disabled as though both wheels were off solid ground. Here is the remedy: Disconnect the emergency brake rod on the wheel resting on solid ground. Then pull back the brake lever as far as possible. This will lock the wheel spinning in the hole and allow traction to the other.

BEARS DEFEAT GRIZZLIES 53-18

BERKELEY MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Nov. 9.—Before a sparsely scattered gathering in the Memorial stadium, the Golden Bears of California, ran amuck this afternoon to defeat the Montana Grizzlies by a score of 53 to 18.

The Princeton started out in the first quarter, when Rice plunged over from the three yard line for the first touchdown. Early in the second quarter, Rice passed to Schlichting for the second score, after a series of bucks had taken the ball to the Montana 13-yard line. At the end of the half, the score was California 21, Montana 0, after a double lateral pass from Rice to Whyte to Cahn who carried the ball 25 yards to a touchdown.

Montana Scores
In the third quarter, Montana made their first score when Ekegren intercepted Garriy's pass on the Grizzly 15 yard line, and ran 85 yards to make the score. California 21, Montana 6. Montana's second score also came in the third quarter, when Ekegren ploughed through the California line for the touchdown.

Slaughter Thickened
In the fourth quarter the slaughter thickened. Seeley started the fireworks with a 69 yard run through tackle for the points. Shortly after, Gill grew ambitious and romped through the entire squad of Montana men for 23 yards and a touchdown.

Gill still felt good, so he carried the ball over for another score a few minutes later from the four yard line. Hickingbotham seemed to feel a little out of place so he carried the ball over for the final touchdown of the game.

HIGH PLAYERS SERVED REAL DINNERS

Members of the cast of "Come Out of the Kitchen" to be produced by the Richmond Union high school pupils Nov. 22, believe in realism, for real dinners are held during rehearsals of the play. In which a dinner has a prominent part. The dinners are provided by Dorothy Cox and Blanche Carson, who are directing the production.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" met its first success when it was produced in New York in 1916 with Ruth Chatterton in the leading role. The play tells the story of the Dangerfields, a once wealthy family, who are forced to try an unusual way of earning their living.

Colorado Aggies Defeat Utah

LOGAN, Utah, Nov. 9.—(U.P.) Failure of the Utah Aggies to convert after their touchdown in the third period cost them their game today and they lost to the Colorado Aggies, 7 to 6.

BRONCO ELEVEN CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 9.—If mental attitude the will to win counts for anything, the University of Santa Clara Broncos should chalk up a victory or at least a very creditable game in the annual "Little Big Game," scheduled today at Kezar stadium.

In spite of the great record of victories achieved by the Galloping Gaels from Moraga during the 1929 season the Santa Clara team, now more than at anytime during the last several seasons, are convinced that they have the ability to upset the Saint Mary's eleven.

Some of the factors which induce Coach Clipper Smith's boys to believe that they will upset the Saint Mary's team are:

Points Told
Their will to win.

Their backfield is more dangerous and better balanced than last year.

Santa Clara was able to score on California and it did better against St. Ignatius than Saint Mary's.

Santa Clara has been able to make as many or more gains through the lines than Saint Mary's did against the same opponents.

Santa Clara is strong in its pass defense since the California game, Saint Ignatius completing no passes out of 16 tries and the Army completing two out of 12 tries.

Good Streaks

Santa Clara has had streaks throughout the season when it was unstoppable, and recent practice has perfected this phase of the work.

Coach Clipper Smith has conducted secret practice throughout the week and plans as does Coach Madigan in uncerkling various new and trick plays during the game. Smith has devoted much time to Mettler's passing and to the building up of combinations that will enable the diminutive Chris Macado to get out into the open, where he is as dangerous as any man who wears a football suit.

SAINTS FROSH WILL MEET BRONCOS

SANTA CLARA, Nov. 9.—Scheduled as the outstanding frosh game in America, the undefeated freshmen teams of the University of Santa Clara and Saint Mary's College will meet in a football tilt at Kezar stadium, San Francisco, at 2:30 p.m. Monday, Armistice Day. More than 25,000 persons are expected to attend the game.

A considerable portion of the players from both teams were star performers last year in San Francisco, Los Angeles and various high schools of the state.

Saint Mary's in its frosh squad has assembled probably the largest group of high school captains ever brought together on a western turf as the representatives of a single college. When the game opens Coach Ike Franklin will take inventory of 21 high school captains in his list of yearlings. The Gael coaching squad has molded these lads into a group of fast, hard hitting youngsters who are able to perform in spectacular fashion.

Outstanding among the Gael youngsters are William Beasley, halfback, Antioch; Emory Ruble, center, Marysville; Garry Vivadell, end, Polytechnic high school; and Eric Herbert Mace, Dixon.

Coach George Barst of Santa Clara will present young Hector Guiniani and Bill Hardeman, two exceptionally flashy players in the position of fullback and among others little Kip Morey, a 140 pound boy, who has a faculty of going cool-like through the line to break out into the wide open spaces. On the line, he has some very dependable lads in Slavich, Molinari and Jack "Red" Smith.

For the most part the Santa Clara colts come from San Francisco high schools.

Both teams have records of victories over the freshmen teams of the University of California.

CARDS DEFEAT HUSKIES 6 TO 0

SEATTLE, Nov. 9.—Ploughing through a field of mud, the Stanford Cardinals this afternoon won a close decision over the Washington Huskies the final score being Stanford 6, Washington 0.

The lone score came early in the first quarter, when a bad kick of the waterlogged ball, gave the Cards first down on Washington's 15 yard line. After a series of bucks, Smaling hit the line for one yard and a touchdown. Robert failed to convert.

Late in the last quarter, Washington recovered a fumble and ran the ball across the goal, but it was not allowed because of the new fumble rule.

The game was of necessity slow due to the heavy rain which had fallen, making a field of mud, through which the gridders slipped and fell. Due to the condition of the field, broken field runs and wide open attacks were practically impossible.

In the last quarter, California got the ball to the Stanford 35 yard line but were unable to score and the game ended shortly after, with the ball in Stanford's possession on its own 25 yard line.

The lone touchdown came as a result of a bad pass from the Stanford center, and a short kick, which went out of bounds on the Stanford 16 yard line. Stanford was penalized half the distance to the goal, and Fritchie scored from the one yard line.

Fritchie broke away again in the third quarter from the California 47 yard line and a touchdown seemed certain but the play was called back, and the Bears penalized five yards for off side.

In the last quarter, California got the ball to the Stanford 35 yard line but were unable to score and the game ended shortly after, with the ball in Stanford's possession on its own 25 yard line.

Planning For Another Year

As the year draws toward its close the Chamber of Commerce lays its plans for the work of the new year.

The first step toward this will be the annual meeting for the nomination of officers, to be held in the form of a dinner at the Hotel Carquinez on the evening of Nov. 20. This will be followed by the election by mail in December, and the new board will take its seat at the first meeting in January and elect its president.

In 1930, as in years past, the program of the Chamber of Commerce will be the attraction of new industrial enterprises. With all natural advantage favoring Richmond, and with three years of intelligent and intensive planning behind us, community builders see nothing but success for the period just ahead. Foundation work must be done before the structure can be reared, and Richmond has built on a solid foundation during these past three years. We can point to a developed waterfront, filled land for industries, streets, sewers, water and power lines, and completely adequate rail and water transportation facilities.
